

TAHOE FOREST STEWARDSHIP DAY

Tahoe Forest Stewardship Days (TFSD) is the League's longest-running community engagement event and Tahoe's largest ecosystem restoration volunteer effort, held each year in the spring and fall. Hundreds of locals and visitors of all ages and skill levels join in hands-on, outdoor work, which can include native tree planting, trail maintenance, stream bank stabilization, invasive species removal, and more. Additional ecosystem restoration events are conducted throughout the year with volunteer "restoration strike teams."

Volunteers at our fall 2023 event included repeat participants and new faces. At one site, a passing mountain biker saw the restoration projects underway, stopped, and joined in. Another first-timer, Noelle Poulsen, made the trip from Vacaville to participate in TFSD.

"My family has deep roots in Tahoe, and I've been a supporter and donor to the League for a long time," said Noelle. "This event sounded like a great opportunity to give back to the environment. It did not disappoint."
